April 12, 2017 4:40 pm ET Order Reprints Print Pixabay item Well this was probably inevitable: At least one financial firm now has rules on which emojis to avoid. Emojis, ThinkAdvisor reminds us, are expressive faces and symbols offer a quick way to convey how we feel, a thumbs up after hearing good news or a crying face to convey sadness. Putnam Investments says advisers should avoid four specific emojis, according to ThinkAdvisor: A stack of dollar bills, a face of the mouth of money with dollar signs for the eyes, money with wings, and the sack of money with a $ in it. Some emojis apparently have a feeling of promissory note, while others simply feel inappropriate. Context matters, says Yasmin Zarabi, Vice President of Compliance at Hearsay Social. If the content is specific to financial products or services, an advisor's comments, likes or emojis may be construed as an endorsement or announcement of a product, person or service, in violation of regulations, he says. Companies should have clear guidelines that limit the use of comments and emojis to content unrelated to financial services, he adds. As with most communications, it seems bland and secure with its emojis is the way to go. : / Well, this was probably inevitable: At least one financial company now has rules on which emojis to avoid. Emoji are fun to use for almost any occasion, and while there seems to be an endless number to choose from, learning how to create your own emoji is the best way to get exactly what you want. Because let's face it, sometimes there's no emoji for that exact expression on your face. When you create your own emoji, you can have it however you want: an object, a weather icon, a symbol, a facial expression, or something completely. You are limited only by your imagination and the ease of use of the emoji maker. There are a lot of emoji builders out there, but below is a tutorial of the best ways to create your own emoji that you can use on your phone, tablet, or computer. How to create your own Emoji on iPhone Emojily is by far the best way to create your own emoji on an iPhone. It has a make-from-scratch option and a random method to generate emoji quickly. It is ideal to create emoji of your emotions. When you use the New option on the app's home screen, you get several authoring tools. From left to right, this is the order in which you make your emoji: Choose a template, such as a multicolored base, a square face, or a taco head. Pick a pair of eyes. He decides on some eyebrows. Flip through the options of the mouth to a suitable one. Add some facial hair if you want. Optionally, choose some hand gestures. Select one of the objects to make your emoji stand out. Choose a hat for your emoji. Each option is customizable, so you can drag them around the emoji background, rotate them and resize them using normal finger gestures. Tap the download button when you're done saving your custom emoji to your gallery. Gallery, Emojily and go to Settings > General Keyboards > > Keyboards > Add New Keyboard > Emojily to add the Emojily keyboard to your phone and making sending your custom emoji very easy. When you're ready to use your custom emoji, use the app drawer next to your keyboard to select the two-sided Emojily icon. That's where you'll find the emoji you made. Emoji Me Animated Faces is a similar free app for iPhone and iPad. iOS 13 and iPadOS users can make emojis with Memoji. Animated Memoji is only available on iPhone X and later, 11-inch iPad Pro, and 12.9-inch (3rd generation) iPad Pro. How to create your own Emoji on Android Make your own emoji on Android is easy with Emoji Maker. If you don't want to spend time making your own, there's also a gallery that you can browse to find popular emojis made by other users. One thing unique in this emoji maker is that as you choose the different parts of the emoji, you can see a preview immediately. This helps you decide what to choose because you don't have to guess what it will look like if you select it. Here's how Emoji Maker works on Android: Tap New Emoji from your home screen. Choose a background for your emoji. It can be anything from a dog or an expensive bear to a heart, vegetable, cat or circle. There are even live wallpapers. Use the menu icons at the bottom of the app to choose eyebrows, eyes, a mouth, hand gestures, hair, facial hair, a mask, and more. Tap the check mark in the top right to save the custom emoji to the gallery within the app. Tap the emoji and then the share button to share it through any of your apps. Bitmoji is another great option to create emoji on Android and iOS. The emojis you can make in that app are usually much more complex, as there are subtitles and complete scenes, but they are still very easy to do. Similar is Chudo, but it is marketed more as a messaging app with live augmented reality emoji found on top of your real face. How to create your own emoji from a computer The free online emoji maker at Labeley is an excellent resource to build your own emoji. You can use the full screen of your desktop computer to make large emojis by choosing a shape, background color, eyebrows, facial features, accessories and text. When you're done, you can share the emoji via Pinterest Facebook, or Twitter, or save it to your computer so you can do it the way you want. Emoji-maker is similar, but it is much easier to save on your computer. There are plenty of options for face shapes and other features, and a built-in text tool allows you to type in the emoji. The piZap emoji maker is another option for users Computer. Several of the options cost, and a high quality export is also not free, but there are still plenty of unique emoji construction tools (and the standard quality export is definitely good enough). As you can see, there are many ways to make your own emoji. You can do this on your computer, from your Android or iPhone, or on a tablet. Some of these methods are better than others if if to send the emoji through your phone's keyboard, but others are good to email or Facebook emoji from a computer or use the emoji in other projects. No matter which method you choose, making your own emoji is undeniably fun. Creating a new emoji that most people aren't using can make it stand out in group messages and even your friends may reuse your emoji. Emoji.
